The Context of Roman Armour in the Age of the Kings

Historical Background of Early Rome

The age of the kings in Rome is shrouded in myth and legend, with figures like Romulus, Numa Pompilius, and Tarquin the Proud shaping the early narrative. Historically, this was a time when Rome was transitioning from a collection of villages and Latin settlements into a burgeoning city-state. Warfare was integral to this process, with conflicts against neighboring peoples such as the Sabines, Etruscans, and Latin tribes shaping military practices.

During this period, the Roman military was relatively primitive compared to later classical standards but was evolving rapidly. The social structure emphasized aristocratic warrior elites, whose status was often marked by their military equipment and display of martial prowess. The armor used was not only practical but also became a symbol of identity and authority.
