- Use present continuous for current actions or temporary situations.
- Use present perfect when the exact time is not specified, but relevance to now exists.
- Use past simple for completed past events.
- Use past perfect to clarify which of two past actions happened first.
- Use future simple for predictions and spontaneous decisions.
- Use future perfect to show the completion of an action before another future event.

Common Mistakes to Avoid

- Mixing up present perfect and past simple; remember that present perfect relates to past actions with relevance now.
- Overusing the continuous tense where simple tense suffices.
- Confusing will and going to for future intentions? will is often for spontaneous decisions, going to for planned actions.
- Forgetting the third person singular -s/-es in the present simple.
