The Wars of the Roses and the Need for Unity

The Wars of the Roses (1455–1487) were a series of civil wars fought between the rival houses of Lancaster and York for control of the English throne. The conflict resulted in multiple shifts of power, political chaos, and social upheaval. The eventual victory of Henry Tudor (Henry VII) at the Battle of Bosworth Field marked the end of the conflict and the beginning of the Tudor era.

The Birth of the Tudor Rose

To legitimize his claim and promote national unity, Henry VII adopted the Tudor rose as a symbol that combined the two rival houses. The union was symbolized by placing the white rose of York within the red rose of Lancaster, effectively merging the two into a single emblem. This act was a political gesture designed to symbolize reconciliation and stability.
